Allah, there is no god but He, the Living, Self-Subsisting. Neither sleep nor slumber overtakes Him. He possesses all that is in the heavens and earth. Who intercedes with Him without His permission? He knows what is before them and after them and they grasp nothing of His knowledge but what He wills. His throne spans the heavens and earth and it tires Him not maintaining them. And He is the Great, the High! .

O Allah send prayers upon the one from whom the secrets spring forth, the lights burst out, in whom all realities were sewn, ceasing the knowledge of Adam, paralyzing all creatures, and reducing understanding so that none of us of the former or later could reach him, then the realms' gardens became pleasing by the blooming of his beauty and the domain of power effused by the flood of his lights such that there was nothing save that he was in charge of it; if not for the keystone, all others would fall, as it is said, a prayer linked to You, from You to him just as he deserves!

اَللَّهُمَّ إِنَّهُ سِرُّكَ الْجَامِعُ الدَّالُّ عَلَيْكَ ، وَحِجَابُكَ الْأَعْظَمُ الْقَائِمُ لَكَ بَيْنَ يَدَيْكَ.

Manżūmatu Asmā'i 'lLāhi 'l-Ḥusnā li Sayyidī ad-Dardīr

Invocation of al-Shaykh ad-Dardīr
in which he calls on Allah by His beautiful 99 Names

Al-Shaykh al-Sawī commented on this Invocation of al-Shaykh ad-Dardīr by saying: it is really unique, because it contains complete prayers (calls on Allah) and splendid exalted secrets. (and) it is the last exalted knowledge that appeared from al-Shaykh ad-Dardīr's tongue. It had been inspired to him in only one night. He just got up from his bed and wrote it. As been said, those righteous, the best to be harvested from their knowledges, is the very last of their speech, because that is the cream of their knowledges and secrets. Although all of their talks are of benefit. Moreover the composer himself said this invocation is of high virtues and any line of it (verse) is a complete litany by itself.
